Planning for Now, Tomorrow and the Future

Aimee McVeigh, consultant with Pave the Way, is offering a presentation for families and friends that explores the issues of preparing and planning for the future and keeping people safe in the long term.

The presentation will look at a variety of issues – developing a vision and building networks of support; guardianship and administration and wills and trusts. It may also be of interest to adult brothers or sisters, or other members of your extended family.

Aimee has worked and volunteered at a range of community legal centres, a non-government organisation in the Philippines and has been engaged as a consultant by the United Nations Special Rapporteur on the rights of indigenous peoples. She was also the Principal Solicitor of the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Women's Legal and Advocacy Service.

Aimee's interest in legal matters relating to families and people with disabilities has been demonstrated in a number of ways. In her work as a lawyer she has acted for numerous clients with disabilities and for family members who have children with disabilities. Until recently, Aimee was a board member of Queensland Advocacy Incorporated.
